Biographical Note

Fannie Louise Burgheim Blumberg was born to Louis and Rachel Heims Burgheim in Indianapolis, Indiana on February 11, 1894 and was an only child. She married Benjamin Blumberg on August 16, 1916, with whom she had four children: Morris, Rachel, Teressa and Gretchen. They also sheltered children who were refugees from Nazi Germany.

She wrote for children, including "The First Circus", a short story; "The Wishing Well," a serial; "The Peace Fiddler," originally donated to Sarah Scott Junior High School (Terre Haute, Indiana) for a fundraiser, and the Roweena Series, beginning with "Roweena, Teena and Tot". She was also an artist, working in watercolors, oils and pseudo-oils, and her works are in galleries and museums throughout the United States. She and Benjamin established an art center at DePauw University, Indiana and funds for Blumberg Halls at Indiana State University, Terre Haute, Indiana and Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology.

Fannie died July 9, 1964 and is buried in the family mausoleum in Highland Lawn Cemetery, Terre Haute, Indiana.
